

At Mullan, we are committed to expanding access to vital and essential medicines for public health, allowing patients and healthcare providers to reliably access high-quality products at affordable costs. Securing the medical supply is part of Mullan’s DNA. The team has an unrivaled track record in delivering medical products and has been a strategic partner to the U.S. state and federal government in response to the global health crisis. Our expertise in distribution and operations, combined with a strong capital base and reliable manufacturing capacity, provides us with the resources we need to pursue our mission.
